And now a few words from me:

Hi there! Let me introduce myself. My name is Bruno, and I'm looking for someone to be my bestest most favourite person. I love to sit on the couch for a good snuggle and a movie. Long walks are pretty awesome too. I have to admit that I'm afraid of almost everything. New people make me nervous, but if they're patient, I'm willing to give them a chance. Kids are a little too erratic for me. If they're quiet, then we can have a moment. I definitely have a favourite person and right now, that's my foster mom. I like to protect her from everything and everyone. Mom seems to think she doesn't need protecting. What does she know? Would you like to hang out together?

And now a few words from my foster family:

Bruno is such a loving little fellow ... to his foster mom. Everyone else is tolerated. Bruno is nervous of new things. It took him a solid week before he would engage with anyone in the home. We are working on building his confidence with some basic training. He is highly food motivated, which helps. He walks well on leash and doesn't seem afraid of traffic or city sounds. He holds his head up high as he walks along. He is a wonderful little guy who needs a home with no small children. He is fine with the other dogs in the house (large and small) but isn't very playful or cuddly with them. He can be possessive of his person and therefore needs someone who is dog-savvy and willing to work through his possessiveness as this could escalate without training.
