And now a few words from me:

Hi, I'm Finley! I'm a happy-go-lucky guy looking for a home where I can grow my confidence and keep learning new things. I get really attached to my family and want to spend all my time with them so I'm looking for a home where I am not often on my own for long periods of time.

I'll do a great job protecting my future family. Nothing goes on outside without me alerting everyone in the house when I'm on duty at the window. My foster family isn't always very appreciative of my efforts. They sometimes close the blinds in the middle of my shift. Can you believe that? I love looking out the window!

I love going for walks, playing with toys, and patrolling the backyard for squirrels. I always have a great time when I get to play with my canine friends and would love to join a family with friendly playmate. Though, having all the attention doesn't sound half bad and I could do well as an only dog too. My absolutely favourite thing is to snuggle up with my family for a cuddle any chance I get. The only thing I don't like is the vacuum! Just one look and I go running.

If you're looking for a cuddle bug, I could be the dog for you!

And now a few words from my foster family:

Finley is a very sweet and affectionate boy. He has a heredity predisposition to developing urinary crystals and recently had surgery to remove kidney stones. His family will need to be willing to maintain a strict diet of "urinary uc" dog food and encourage an increased water intake for the rest of his life. Both will help prevent future issues, but they should be aware it could occur again. Despite his medical history, Finley remains full of life!

He's still young and has had a lot of changes in his life recently so can be timid at times. Loud noises, strangers passing by on walks, and unfamiliar surroundings make him nervous. He would greatly benefit from a steady home willing to help him build up his confidence.

He's a loving, playful and goofy guy who will steal your heart the moment you meet him. He's happy chasing a ball, playing tug-of-war, and napping in a sunbeam. He's definitely happiest cuddled under the blankets with you. He is such a character and truly has a zest for life and playful energy that is infectious. He'll all smiles, silliness, and has a lot of love to give.

Please note: a meet-and-greet in Toronto may be required.
